Democratic Delegates Inclined to Resent Tammany Dictation.

CHICAGO. June 18.—The only judgment that can be formed as to the situation at Chicago is that based upon the opinions of the few leaders here who are willing to talk. There are not enough delegates in town to give any basis for a calculation of the general sentiment of the convention. There is really no positive situation yet, but merely the indications of a situation. Those persons who have been calcu-lating on the insincerity of the Tammany and regular democracy opposition are apt to find that they were making a miscalculation. The anti-Cleveland New Yorkers give evidence of earnestness in their hatred of the ex-President. They have their knives sharpened to a keen edge and look as if they have the hardihood to

The fact that it is generally believed that Mr. Cleveland is pretty near to the goal of his ambition does not seem to make their opposition to him the less bitter. The indications are clearly that a very large majority of the delegates want Mr. Cleveland nominated. There may be twothirds or three-fourths of them who would prefer him to any one else; but of these there are very many who are frightened by the attitude of New York regulars and feel that they may have to sacrifice their preferences rather than run the risk of losing the state of New York in November. This feeling of doubt and fear appears to be on the increase as it becomes more evident that the Tammany chiefs mean

It will not take a very complete answer to satisfy them, perhaps, but they want something to go on as an excuse for disregarding the warning. Thus far the reply has been the general one that Cleveland can carry the state if any one can, and that the men who have been elected to office are no better authority for the party than are the voters who put them there; that the anti-snappers have an organization throughout the state now and are in as good a position to speak for the party as are those at the heads of plants gave the headquarters a gala appear A CLEVELAND MAN'S ABGUMENT.

Then it was Harrison against the field; here it is Cleveland against the field; here it is Cleveland against the field. The bitterness of the opposition to President Harrison's renomination, which was its distinguishing characteristic, is missing here and is not likely to appear unless it should break out among the Hill delegates. Most of these are in the field now and they are not at all backward either in expressing their opposition, which is not favorable to the ex-President, or their conviction that he cannot carry the state of New York if nominated. Mr. Cleveland's position differs from that of Harrison in that his state does not support him; notwithstanding which

But that fact apparently does not disturb his supporters. They are mere matters of detail. There is no doubt in anybody's mind that Grover Cleveland's name will be presented and seconded from the various parts of the Union. The presentation, it is felt, must come from some other state than New York, and the uncertainty that existed as to the reception that would be accorded the Syracuse (anti-snapper) delegates by the convention has disappeared before the emphatic statement of Senator Carlisle of Kentucky that they caunot be admitted to the convention.
